

Two World Perspective

Read this poem top to bottom then after you read the last line read the second bottom line and continue reading line by line to the top.

My heart is yours to know I am the Lord
If we see life from this perspective surely
The world is without hope
Selflessness cannot defeat vanity
Virtue cannot restrain vice
It would be wrong for you to believe
The Christian family can survive this age
That your generosity can overcome human greed
That goodness of marriage can counter a world of evil
Know this with full confidence
The time of reaping is near
For I looked into your heart and know assuredly
What manner of my presence is left on earth
In a day where no honour is shown me
In a place where deception is among my people
We are separated and I am far from you
You are completely mistaken to believe
Your children can make a difference in my kingdom
That your parenting is of great interest to me
I have already established a way for you knowing
I AM the Lord and you can know with certainty
If you look again you will find my heart, for
